

Remote Music Services

Music has always been the way to help ourselves and our communities through crisis.

Remote music services are now available for older adults to access the benefits of engaging music experiences while in-person services are on hold.

We can help:

- Provide meaningful music activities to older adults, caregivers, and/or staff
- Give stressed-out caregivers and family members a musical break
- Reduce the need for anti-psychotic and anti-anxiety medications
- Provide a means for social interaction and emotional support tailored to the individual

Tailored to the client's needs and musical preferences, these service options may be designed for maximum independent engagement and accessibility over time.
